Standards Manual*

SUSTAINABLE COLUMBIA

Sustainable Columbia is Columbia University's campus sustainability initiative, administered by the Office of Campus Sustainability and supported by a variety of university departments and projects. The Sustainable Columbia Style Guide and Identity Standards Manual provides guidelines on how to use the Sustainable Columbia brand identity in various communications so that together we can communicate what Sustainable Columbia stands for in a clear, consistent and focused way. Please follow the Style Guide and Identity Standards Manual when designing your communication materials, and direct any questions to Campus Sustainability at sustainability@columbia.edu or 212-854-7046.

Sustainability Principles

In XXXXXX 2016, the University adopted the following sustainability principles in all facets of planning and operations so that Columbia can improve environmental performance, ensure a healthy community and contribute to local, regional and global solutions. For more information on Columbia's sustainability Principles visit environment.columbia.edu.

1. Advance Columbia's core educational, research and outreach missions to demonstrate its leadership around the world.
2. Plan, develop, implement and measure strategic sustainability initiatives.
3. Foster a culture of sustainability.

Co-Branding

Sustainable Columbia frequently partners with various university departments to produce co-branded communications. Co-branded projects should be classified into one of three categories:

- a) Sustainable Columbia-led,
- b) Sustainable Columbia-facilitated, or
- c) Sustainable Columbia-cosponsored.

The co-branded category of choice should reflect the relationship between Sustainable Columbia and its partners for a given project. Please follow the guidelines for the appropriate co-branding category on the following page. All communications that display the Sustainable Columbia trademark must be approved by the Office of Campus Sustainability. Please direct questions to sustainability@columbia.edu.

SUSTAINABLE COLUMBIA-LED

In Sustainable Columbia-led projects, communications are produced by the Office of Campus Sustainability. The Office of Campus Sustainability provides staff and/or financial resources and leads planning efforts.

SUSTAINABLE COLUMBIA

The Sustainable Columbia trademark should be clearly displayed at the top or bottom of the communication.

SUSTAINABLE COLUMBIA-FACILITATED

In Sustainable Columbia-facilitated projects, Sustainable Columbia is the sole sponsor of a recognizable program or initiative. In facilitated projects, the title of the program or initiative receives prominence.

PROGRAM NAME

The Sustainable Columbia branding should have secondary hierarchical value, and the trademark should be clearly displayed at the bottom of the communication in most cases.

SUSTAINABLE COLUMBIA

SUSTAINABLE COLUMBIA-COSPONSORED

In Sustainable Columbia-cosponsored projects, communications are supported by the Office of Campus Sustainability, along with other partners. Campus Sustainability may provide financial or other support.

PROGRAM NAME

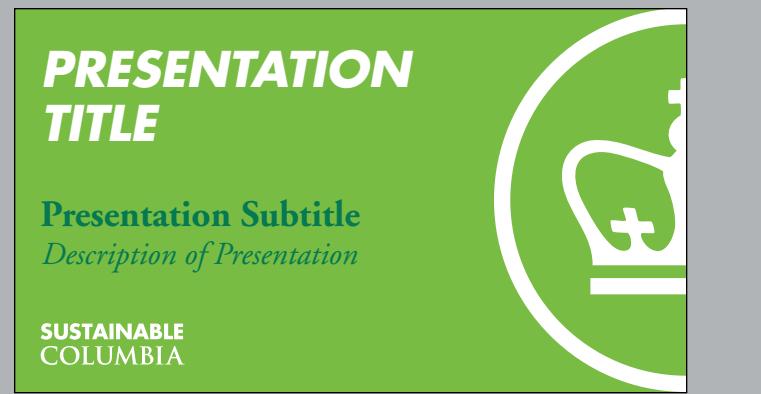

The Sustainable Columbia trademark should be clearly displayed with other sponsor signatures—at the bottom of the communication in most cases.
